The EBT Pegasus 36' Pattern is the shortest of all EBT proprietary patterns with an asymmetrical design. At only 36 feet, bowlers should expect a big ball reaction and will need to adjust their speed and target accordingly. Be careful of the out-of-bounds outside of the 5 board when playing deep angles. Though short, it is somewhat difficult to play the traditional second arrow especially in the beginning. Pegasus can be played from a variety of angles, but those who can play a more direct angle along first arrow will have the best scoring chance. Playing deep or in the middle is difficult. Like all other EBT patterns, the oil volume is designed to create carrydown, and it is this transition that will cause bowlers the most trouble. During carrydown, bowlers may want to switch to stronger equipment to overcome the pushed oil. Those throwing weaker equipment or those who have a weaker hand delivery may be able to move inside to find a line to the pocket. Watch what your equipment and what the lanes are telling you because this little shorty of a pattern will change suddenly and she is not very polite about it! Remember, you as the bowler are ultimately responsible for choosing the right equipment and playing the lanes as they allow you to play them! This is only a reference guide, not an answer key! Good luck!
